

In Science we learned all about forces. We made windmills and tried to make them move. We learned that the harder we blow, the faster the blades will turn.

